

Indian anatomical illustration, 18th century

Item number :1265

Description :

Indian anatomical illustration after the Mansur's Anatomy. The Manuscript of Tashrih_E Mansuri (Mansur's anatomy) was originally written in the fourteen century by Mansur Ibn Ilyas for his patron, the ruler of Fars in Iran. The treatise consist of anatomical illustrations of various systems of the body, including nervous system, skeleton, muscles, veins, and arteries.

Similar example : Museum of Fine Arts, Houston

- Origin : India
- Date :

- 18th Century

- Height (cm): 26
- Width (cm): 18
- Material: Paper, black and coloured ink.

Contact us for more information : info@weart.com